

INFORMATIVE REPORT

Cesena, 11 October 2010 – “Referring to the news published in some national newspapers today, Trevi Group has the intention to specify that the waste disposal activity mentioned in those articles, is not part of the activities of the Group.

Being specialized in underground engineering, Trevi has developed advanced drilling technologies able to secure landfills and contaminated sites and this is the specific activity that Trevi is carrying-out in some other sites located in the province of Foggia in force of a sub-contract awarded by a local contractor.

What we have read in the press has surprised us; in fact we are not aware of any investigation on the drilling works that we are executing in complete accordance with the rules and in conformity with the laws; this is our operating practice in each of the thirty-two Countries worldwide where we are present.

If we had previously received any request of information, such kind of news, that could undermine the image of a Group which has over 6,000 employees and more than 53 years of entrepreneurial history, would not have appeared in the press.

Anyway we are ready to give any information that might be required.”
